Ask Stewart

Hey Stewart,

Will there be an All About Trees class this year?

— Ron

Yes, when you attend the 2025 All About Trees (AAT) training classes you will receive instruction and information on all aspects of trees. Courses are taught on-line and through in-person field classes to allow for practical learning gained by hands-on experience. Participants will learn the correct planting, maintenance, and pruning of trees. Training will cover basic tree anatomy, biology and life functions, soils, tree identification, propagation, planting and care, pruning and selecting the right tree for the right spot. Classes are taught by professional arborists, nurserymen, landscapers, horticulturalists, and Tree Stewards. Graduates will plant a class tree at the end of the class.

In-Person Classes are on Saturdays, Sept. 6 to Oct. 18, 2025, usually from 9am – 12noon.

Reading and Video assignments are at your convenience.

This year there will be a special guided tour of the Birdsong Pleasure Garden in Luray. I intend to be there myself to view a variety of picturesque native gardens, trees, and unique water features.

Course Fee: $30 (includes all classes) Tuition assistance is available.

You can get the information you need to sign up on the Tree Stewards web site: <https://treesfrontroyal.org>

Your Pal in the Trees,

— Stewart

The Front Royal/Warren County Tree Steward program began in 1997 with volunteers dedicated to improving the health of trees by providing educational programs, tree planting and care demonstrations, and tree maintenance throughout the community. The group now consists of over 30 active members with several interns working toward becoming certified tree stewards from our annual "All About Trees Class". Each month Stewart will answer a question from our readers. Please forward it to "Stewart" in care of:

REC Lineworkers Shine at 21st Annual Gaff-n-Go Rodeo

REC lineworkers delivered an impressive showing at the 21st Annual Altec Gaff-n-Go Rodeo, held May 16–17 at Meadow Event Park in Doswell.

The Gaff-n-Go competition is the only event of its type held in Virginia. The name Gaff-n-Go refers to the "gaff," a metal spike that lineworkers attach to their boots to climb wooden utility poles. Besides the competition, the gathering provides a variety of benefits for the linemen — and REC's members.

"It's an outstanding opportunity for our lineworkers and our crews to show off their skills in action, to demonstrate their commitment to safety and to show how they team up and partner to get the job done," said John

Hewa, REC's President and CEO.

In the Equipment Operator's category, the team of Thomas Bailey, Alister Pollard and Addison Spicer brought home first place overall with a perfect score. The trio also earned per-

Workforce housing projects in Winchester, Harrisonburg, and Alexandria receive millions in state funding

Governor Glenn Youngkin has announced more than $16.9 million in state funding through the Virginia Workforce Housing Investment Program, with significant allocations going to Winchester, Harrisonburg, and Alexandria to support new housing options for middle-income workers.

In Winchester, the city will receive $3 million to convert a cold storage facility into a mixed-use development. The project, dubbed Winchester Grove, aims to address the region's growing housing needs as local job opportunities expand.

In Harrisonburg, the state awarded $1.2 million for the Flats at West Market project, which will repurpose a former office building into affordable rental units for the city's workforce.

In Alexandria, the nonprofit Housing Alexandria will receive $1.08 million for a project on Seminary Road, near the new INOVA campus. This initiative is part of the larger Landmark Mall redevelopment, expected to offer new homeownership opportunities to regional workers.

"These projects represent the strategic collaboration that this program promotes to create more affordable housing for our middle-income families," said Virginia Housing CEO Tammy Neale.

The Workforce Housing Investment Program is a five-year, $75 million initiative designed to spur private investment—with this round expected to leverage over $254 million across Virginia and produce 740 new housing units. The program prioritizes localities within a 30-minute drive of new or expanding businesses.

"This innovative approach is about tying job growth to housing growth," said Governor Youngkin. "We're making Virginia more affordable, more accessible, and more competitive."

She loves kids and will do GREAT as a family dog with kiddos of all ages. She's housebroken, loves car rides and baths!! She's spayed, chipped and UTD on vaccines.

Reminder: if you find a fawn, leave it alone

Signs of spring are abundant across the Commonwealth with flowering dogwoods in bloom, hayfields greening up, and white-tailed deer fawns being born. During this time fawns can often find their way into yards, gardens, and hayfields. Often, concerned citizens think these fawns need help, but in almost all cases, the best way to help is to simply give the fawn space and leave it alone.

Concerned people sometimes pick up animals that they think are orphaned. Most such “orphans” that good-intentioned citizens “rescue” every spring should have been left alone. Most wild animals will not abandon their young, but they do leave them alone for extended periods of time.

Fawns, born from May through July, are purposely left alone by their mothers. Female deer, called does, stay away from the fawns to avoid leading predators to their location. The white-spotted coat camouflages a fawn as it lies motionless in vegetation. Young fawns generally will not try to run away when they are approached. Does will return several times each day to move and/or feed their young. You probably will not see the doe at all since she only stays to feed the fawn for just a few minutes before leaving it alone again.

If less than 24 hours have passed since a fawn has been “rescued,” the fawn should be taken back and released at the exact same location where it was found. After returning the fawn, immediately leave the area and do not wait for the doe to return. The doe will not come back for the fawn if a human is nearby.

If a wild animal has been injured or truly orphaned, do not take matters into your own hands. Report the incident by calling the Virginia Department of Wildlife Resources (DWR) wildlife conflict helpline at 1-855-571-9003, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. – 4:30 p.m., or find a permitted wildlife rehabilitator through the DWR website. Only permitted wildlife rehabilitators are legally allowed to raise a fawn in captivity. Survival back in the wild is often low for rehabilitated fawns. Lessons during their first year of life, especially from their mother, are critical for a fawn to learn where to find food and avoid predators. Thus, the best way to help a fawn is to leave it alone.

In Virginia, fawn rehabilitation is prohibited within designated disease management areas for chronic wasting disease (CWD). This restriction is recognized as a best management practice for limiting the spread of CWD due to animal transport and potential transmission within a captive setting. Please visit the CWD website for more information on disease man-

The award is open to anyone who serves children in any way, though if it is their profession, the nominator will need to explain the way in which they go above and beyond their normal job requirements. Nominators are asked to explain the contributions made to the children and youth of Warren County, cite specific examples, and list five outstanding qualities of the nominee.

Nominations can be made online at <https://bit.ly/FunkAward>. (Note that the link is case-sensitive.) A panel will review the nomination packages, and the selected recipient will be presented with a plaque and $500 cash at the Warren Coalition's Annual Membership Luncheon in late July. Nominations are due June 15, 2025.

People who have been nominated before may be submitted again. However, past honorees are ineligible for five years following receipt of the award. Past recipients include Roger Smelzer (2022), Laura Nelson-Haas (2023), and Michael S. Williams (2024). Questions may be sent to Celeste Brooks at celeste@warrencoalition.org.

President during that time. The Warren County Sheriff Department employed Larry for over 28 years, and 27 of those were as the D.A.R.E. instructor and Community Policing representative. He received many awards and recognitions from community organizations such as Kiwanis, Elks Lodge, Moose Lodge, Warren County Sheriff Department, Warren County Board of Supervisors, and American Legion Post 53, just to name a few. His many activities included presentations at events and distribution of educational materials for the youth of Warren County. This included many bike rodeos; Warren County Fair booths; Warren Memorial Hospital annual health fair; drug awareness displays; car shows; and car seat safety checks. He coordinated and organized the annual D.A.R.E. Day, which was the culmination of a year of planning for the fifth graders of Warren County Public Schools as part of the D.A.R.E. education during the school year.

At his church, Larry served as an elder, assistant Sunday school superintendent, and a youth Sunday school teacher. His family recalled that he would practice his presentations for hours until he got them just the way he wanted. He took great pride working with the children of the community. Students and former students would frequently greet him with hugs whenever they would see him. Larry's impact was great and long-lasting. Larry was married for 38 years; the proud father of two sons; and grandfather of five grandchildren. He loved spending time with them and especially teaching them. Warren Coalition is a nonprofit

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! (Answer in back.)

On 13 April 2024, the Colonel James Wood II Chapter of the Virginia Society Sons of the American Revolution conducted two commemorations to honor events from the Revolutionary War era. The ceremonies were held at the Wayside Inn, Middletown, VA. The first event was a commemoration of Patriots Day. On 19 April 1775, approximately 700 British Regulars were sent to Concord, via Lexington, looking for arms and ammunition, as well as leaders of the patriot cause. The intentions of the British were passed to Joseph Warren who dispatched Paul Revere and William Dawes to warn the countryside the "Regulars are Coming!" In response, the Minute Men grabbed their weapons and headed towards town. When the British arrived in Lexington, they were met by 77 militiamen gathered on the town green, led by Captain John Parker. British Major John Pitcairn called to the militia to "Throw down your arms!" Captain Parker ordered his company to disperse. At some point, a shot rang out and the British fired. Eight of the militia were killed with 10 wounded. The British then continued on to Concord. They were met by roughly 500 colonials with more on the way. A British company of 220 men was sent to cover the Concord Bridge where they were met and outnumbered by the colonial Acton Company, led by Captain Isaac Davis. When Davis' company came within range, the British opened fire, killing Davis and one other with four wounded. The British lost three killed and nine wounded. It was the battle at the North Bridge which is considered the "Shot heard round the world!" The British formed the troops to begin a retreat to Boston. This began a rout of the royal forces as the colonials attacked from all sides along what is known as Battle Road. The British were pursued for 16 miles until they reached Charleston where they met with reinforcements and came within range of the British ships cannons. All total, there were 3,960 colonial militia involved against 1,500 British. The Americans suffered 93 casualties with the British losing 300. After a presentation on the battle, wreaths were presented to honor the event and a three round musket salute was fired.

After that event, a celebration to honor Thomas Jefferson's 281st birthday. Jefferson was a true renaissance man. He was a politician, farmer, lawyer, scientist, architect, family man and prolific writer. He was the son of Peter Jefferson and Jane Randolph, born 2 April 1743. In 1752, England moved from the Julian Calendar to the Gregorian Calendar, which added 11 days, moving his birthday to 13 April. His father, owned a plantation of 5,000 acres known as Shadwell, located in central Virginia. When Jefferson was 14, his father died and he inherited the plantation. In 1768, he cleared 250 square feet of land on top of a 868 foot mountain on the property and built a brick one room house with basement. This named Monticello. The house became the south portico of the mansion that was built over a 40 year period.

In 1772, he married Martha Wayles Skelton, producing six children. Only two of the children reached adulthood. Martha died in 1782, he lost what he considered "the cherished companion of my life."

Best known as the principal author of the Declaration of Independence, he served in a multitude of public service offices, including as President, Vice President, first Secretary of State, Minister to France, Virginia Governor, Member of the House of Delegates and the House of Burgesses, covering almost five decades of public service. In 1774, he authored a draft for Virginia's delegation to the First Continental Congress, "Summary View of the rights of British America." In addition, he and James Madison combined to right the Statute for Religious Freedom in 1786. A prolific writer, he wrote over 19,000 letters during his lifetime and was an avid reader. In 1815, he sold his 6,500 volume library to the United States which replaced the books lost when the British burned the National library during the War of 1812. During his Presidency, he was responsible for the purchase of the Louisiana Territory. This added 529 million acres of land to the United States. He was responsible for sending Meriweather Lewis and William Clark to explore the new territory and find a northwest passage to the Pacific Ocean. His final public service was the founding of the University of Virginia, securing it's location, designing the buildings, planning the curriculum and serving as first rector. Jefferson and John Adams died on 4 July 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. Ten days prior to his death, he wrote "All eyes are opened, or opening, to the rights of man." Jefferson wrote his own epitaph, designing the grave marker with the three accomplishments of which, he was most proud. The Declaration of American Independence, The Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom and Father of the University of Virginia. He was not a gifted speaker, but a shy, voracious reader and gifted correspondent. He wrote "I have no fear that the result of our experiment will be that men may be trusted to govern themselves." He spent his life insuring that the great experiment would continue. A man among men, a patriot and founding father.

Wreaths were presented in memory of Thomas Jefferson with a musket squad firing a three round salute. Wreaths and honors were presented by the Colonel James Wood II, General Daniel Morgan, Sgt Maj John Champe, and Fort Harrison SAR Chapters; Pack House Ford West Virginia DAR Chapter and the Order of Founders and Patriots of America. Help stop invasive pests and plants in Virginia

RICHMOND, VA — April was Invasive Plant Pest and Disease Awareness Month, and the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (VDACS) is asking residents to help protect Virginia's crops, forests, and native species from destructive invasive threats.

VDACS monitors pests like Spotted Lanternfly, Spotted Moth, and invasive plants such as Cogon Grass and Beach Vitex. Residents can help by not moving firewood, cleaning gear and vehicles before leaving outdoor sites, avoiding invasive species in gardens and food plots, and reporting sightings using VDACS' Invasive Species Reporting Tool.

Seven people killed in seven crashes on Virginia roads over 2025 Memorial Day holiday

Over 400 Cited for Hands-Free Violations

RICHMOND — Preliminary data shows seven people were killed in crashes on Virginia roads over the 2025 Memorial Day Holiday weekend (Friday through Monday). The number is a significant drop from 2024 when 13 people died in crashes over the holiday." However, Virginians should not let their guard down as last year there were 25 fatalities that Virginia State Police investigated in the week after Memorial Day 2024.

The fatal crashes over Memorial Day weekend occurred in the counties of Bedford, Buckingham, Caroline, Fauquier and Spotsylvania, and the cities of Chesapeake and Virginia Beach. The fatal crash in Bedford County Saturday afternoon involved a bicycle and a second vehicle, which fled the scene. The hit-and-run remains under investigation. The crash on Interstate 95 in Spotsylvania County on Saturday involved a motorcycle.

"Our goal remains to see a holiday weekend where there are no fatal crashes," said Colonel Matthew D. Hanley, Superintendent of Virginia State Police. "With graduations and summer travel continuing beyond this past weekend, we are continuing to

Chocolate is the finishing touch

A homemade dessert featuring rich and creamy chocolate might be exactly what friends and family need to cap off a perfect summer day.

This recipe for "Mint Chocolate Mousse" from "Chocolate: Deliciously Indulgent Recipes for Chocolate Lovers" (Ryland, Peters & Small) by Maxine Clark is ideal for anyone who loves the taste of mint and chocolate. It's relatively simple to make, so it should be something that young children can handle with a little help from an adult.

Mint Chocolate Mousse

Serves 4

- 5 ounces dark chocolate (60 to 70 percent cocoa solids), chopped or broken up into smaller pieces
- 4 to 6 chocolate covered dinner mints, chopped
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 tablespoons heavy cream
- 1 teaspoon powdered gelatin
- 2 tablespoons chopped chocolate mint sticks, or frosted mint leaves and 1 cup heavy cream, to decorate
- 4 pots or dessert cups, for serving

Melt the chocolate with the dinner mints over a double boiler or in the microwave. Let cool slightly. Using an electric mixer, beat together the egg yolks and sugar in a large bowl until thick and mousselike, then beat in the melted chocolate-mint mixture.

Sprinkle the gelatin over 4 tablespoons water in a small, heatproof bowl and let soak and swell for 2 to 3 minutes. Put the bowl in a pan of simmering water and stir until the gelatin has dissolved. Beat into the chocolate-mint mixture.

Working quickly, beat the egg whites in a clean, dry bowl until stiff but not dry, then fold into the chocolate mixture with a metal spoon.

Divide the mousse between the pots. Scatter with the chopped mint sticks, then refrigerate until set. Alternatively, whip the 1 cup cream and use to decorate the mousses, along with the frosted mint leaves. Leave at cool room temperature for about 20 minutes before serving.

ask drivers to buckle up, slow down, drive sober, and avoid distractions.”

As part of the nationwide, state-sponsored Operation C.A.R.E (Crash Awareness Reduction Effort), Virginia State Police had all available troopers and supervisors on patrol during the 2025 holiday weekend. During the statistical counting period, troopers cited over 3,300 drivers for speeding and over 1,500 drivers for reckless driving. Seventy-one drivers were arrested for Driving Under the Influence (DUI/DUID). State troopers also cited 405 drivers for violating the “hands-free” phone law.

Virginia is also currently participating in the annual Click It or Ticket seatbelt education and enforcement campaign. Over the holiday, there were 506 seatbelt violations and 122 child restraint citations issued by state police.

Funds generated from summonses issued by Virginia State Police go directly to court fees and the state’s Literary Fund, which benefits public school construction, technology funding, and teacher retirement.

Frederick County National Little League Launches the “Pitch In for the Future” Capital Campaign

Stephens City, VA – May 27, 2025
— Frederick County National Little

League (FCNLL) is rallying players, families, and community members around a bold vision to transform its baseball and softball complex. Through the “Pitch In for the Future” Capital Campaign, FCNLL aims to raise critical funds for long-overdue field improvements and the construction of a new indoor facility — ensuring every child has access to safe, high-quality spaces to play, learn, and grow all year long.

The campaign supports infrastructure upgrades such as improved drainage, safer fields, and enhanced spectator areas — all vital improvements to benefit the more than 500 youth athletes who participate each season. A major highlight of the effort is the planned indoor training facility that would allow for year-round practices, camps, and clinics — uninterrupted by weather and seasonal limitations.

“This campaign is about more than fields — it’s about creating a lasting legacy for our players and our community,” said FCNLL President Andy Dunn.

“Our goal is to make our complex a place where kids can dream big, grow their skills, and build lifelong memories.”

The campaign’s largest community event to date, the FCNLL Hit-a-thon, will take place Saturday, May 31, 2025, from 9 AM – 4 PM at Sherando Park (Rain Date: June 1). This family-friendly event will feature players of all ages swinging for donations to support the campaign. Media, donors, and community leaders are invited to attend and capture the energy and passion behind this transformational effort.

“We’ve seen incredible enthusiasm from our families and sponsors,” said Campaign Chair John Sargent. “Every dollar raised brings us closer to our vision. We encourage everyone to ‘pitch in’—whether it’s by donating, sharing our story, or attending the Hit-a-thon.”

Explosion and fire destroy home on North Timber Ridge Road

WINCHESTER — A house fire that broke out the evening of May 19 destroyed a single-story home on North Timber Ridge Road and resulted in one person being transported to Winchester Medical Center for evaluation.

Frederick County firefighters were dispatched at 4:58 p.m. and arrived at 5:00 p.m. to find the home fully engulfed in flames. Crews deployed multiple hose lines and fought the fire defensively from the exterior. Water was sourced from a nearby pond on the property to support suppression efforts.

The fire was brought under control by 7:20 p.m., and the final units cleared the scene around 9:39 p.m.

One civilian occupant was in the home at the time of the fire and was injured. The American Red Cross was called to assist.

Initial 911 callers reported an explosion, which officials believe was caused by medical oxygen cylinders compromised by heat, leading to a deflagration of combustible materials. The fire caused an estimated $185,520 in damage.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation but is being treated as accidental.

Units from Reynolds Store, Gainesboro, Gore, Round Hill, Frederick County, Morgan County, and Berkeley County responded to the scene.

Dam Safety

RICHMOND, Va. — Governor Glenn Youngkin has issued a proclamation recognizing May 31 as Dam Safety Awareness Day in Virginia.

National Dam Safety Awareness Day honors the lives lost during the catastrophic failure of the South Fork Dam in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, on May 31, 1889. The Johnstown disaster killed over 2,000 people and remains the worst dam-related disaster in the history of the United States. It serves as a reminder that dam infrastructure must be safely maintained.

Virginia is home to more than 2,500 dams regulated by the Department of Conservation and Recreation, including 527 high and likely high hazard dams. These dams pose the greatest threat to life and property if they were to fail, but most high hazard dams are well maintained. Many play a critical role in flood control, water supply, fisheries and recreation.

“The Youngkin Administration has prioritized addressing the backlog of Virginia’s aging dams,” said Secretary of Natural and Historic Resources Stefanie Taillon. “By emphasizing ownership identification as well as hazard classification, we have been able to identify priority dams that pose risks to the Commonwealth and its citizens. While the Department of Conservation and Recreation has made strides in addressing the backlog, we continue to remind dam owners of the risks and responsibilities that are present.”

Heavy rains, improper maintenance and aging infrastructure can all impact the safety of dams. The average age of dams in Virginia is 76 years old, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers’ National Inventory of Dams.

“Dam Safety Awareness Day serves as a reminder of the critical importance of dam safety and the collective responsibility of individuals and communities to ensure the integrity of dams,” said DCR Director Matthew Wells.

DCR encourages individuals and communities to take these actions to increase awareness about dam safety:

Know your risk. Determine your flood risk and find out if you live in a dam break inundation zone by visiting the Virginia Flood Risk Information System (VFRIS), by contacting your local emergency management agency or DCR Dam Safety Program staff.

Know your role. Be aware of potential maintenance issues and report them to dam owners, DCR Dam Safety officials and local authorities immediately. Visible cracks and damage, erosion, leakage, overgrown vegetation and clogged spillways are all signs of neglect.

Take action. Protect your property by maintaining flood insurance if you live near or below a dam. Have a plan in place for your family or workplace should you need to evacuate quickly because of a dam failure. DCR is the agency to contact if you have concerns about a dam. You can reach DCR’s Dam Safety Division staff at 804-371-6095 or dam@dcr.virginia.gov.

Throughout the day, military reenactors will bring history to life with living history displays and interactive exhibits, offering attendees a chance to learn about military life and equipment from various eras.

Veterans are invited to gather for reunions beginning at 10:30 a.m., followed by a group photograph at 11:30 a.m. Veterans who register upon arrival will receive a complimentary BBQ luncheon at noon.

The museum is encouraging local veterans to spread the word and attend the event. For more information, visit the American Military Heritage Museum’s Facebook page or look for the large American flag marking the event location.
