A "small scratch" on my Enterprise rental -- and now a $1,800 bill. Do I have to pay?

Illustration by Dustin Elliott

By Christopher Elliott

Eric Weiman rents a car from Enterprise in Germany. He is later accused of damaging the vehicle. When he disputes the charges, Enterprise threatens legal action. Can he get them to drop the claim?

Q: I recently rented a car from the Enterprise location in Munich, Germany. When I returned the vehicle after several days, no one inspected it. A few days later, I received a message in my spam folder saying I had damaged the car.

Enterprise claims I scratched the car during my rental. The scratch is small, barely finger-length and thin. They sent me a bill for just over $1,800.

The photos they sent show no damage in one photo, and the other two photos that show the scratch don't show the license plate or any indication that it is the same car. I took a video of the car when I returned it, and it shows no damage where they claim the scratch is.

I called Enterprise customer service. The U.S. representative couldn't find any record of the damage and couldn't help me. Three months later, Enterprise charged my credit card for the full amount of the damage. I disputed the charge with my credit card company, but they are siding with Enterprise.

How can I defend myself against this false claim? -- Eric Weiman, San Diego

A: You shouldn't have to pay for damage that didn't exist when you returned the vehicle. You're responsible for the car from the time you pick it up to the time you return it. But after you return it? That's on the company.

You did the right thing by taking a video of the car when you returned it. That gives you some evidence to support your claim. I also recommend taking "before" photos and videos of the vehicle, just to establish a baseline.

The most confusing part of your case is that you showed the rental location a video of the car you rented and it appears the car didn't have a scratch. Meanwhile, the photos they showed you allegedly proving you had damaged the car were not identifiable as the car you rented. In other words, it could have been any vehicle in the company's fleet. And when you asked for clarification, Enterprise seemed to double down on its claim.

I think you had one more option: An appeal to an executive at Enterprise. I list the names, numbers and email addresses of the top customer service executives at Enterprise on my consumer advocacy site, Elliott.org.

I contacted Enterprise on your behalf.

"We take seriously any concerns brought to us by customers and investigate them thoroughly," a representative told me. "In this particular instance, damage to the vehicle was not present when the renter took possession of the vehicle, yet, was clearly present when the vehicle was processed for return.

Enterprise says it has a photographic tunnel, which is operated by a third party. Vehicles from all rental companies pass through the tunnel in and out of Munich airport and are photographed for damage. The photos suggest you returned your car with damage.

"Because of this, we do intend to stand by our charge in this case and pursue the renter for damages," the Enterprise spokesman said.

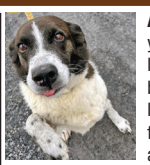
Brownie is a 10 year old mellow hound looking for his furever family! He is extremely sweet and docile. He is good with other dogs and kids. He is neutered, up to date on vaccinations and microchipped.


Ally is a collie mix around 8 yrs old. She is super sweet, laid back and just wants to be with her people. She has lived with dogs but no cats for her please. Low energy and a calm dog would work best. We require a dog test to see if everyone gets along ok. She's a known escape artist so don't leave her alone outside. She loves kids and will do GREAT as a family dog with kiddos of all ages. She's housebroken, loves car rides and baths!! She's spayed, chipped and UTD on vaccines.

Geologists uncover new evidence from ancient asteroid that hit the Chesapeake Bay

An illustration of the bolide impact in the Chesapeake Bay 35 million years ago. (Illustration by Nicolle Rager-Fuller /U.S. National Science Foundation)

The research in North Carolina documents downstream remnants of the 35-million-year-old tsunami that followed the extraterrestrial impact.

By Katherine Hafner/WHRO

About 35 million years ago, Hampton Roads was underwater, with the coastline dozens of miles west toward Richmond.

Dinosaurs were long gone, but the ocean teemed with marine creatures such as ancient whales, sharks and sea stars.

That is until one unfortunate day, when life across what's now southeastern Virginia was obliterated within seconds.

A bolide – an extraterrestrial object such as an asteroid or comet – hurtled out of space and landed in the lower part of the Chesapeake Bay.

"There was a kill zone that would have been several hundred miles out in every direction," said Rich Whittecar, a geologist and emeritus professor at Old Dominion University.

The volcanic-like lateral blast from the impact ripped through faster than the speed of sound, with exponentially more explosive power than atomic bombs detonated by humans, Whittecar said.

Plants and animals would be "totally shredded" by all the material – and simultaneously incinerated by the intense heat.

"Not a good day," Whittecar said.

Geologists first pieced together the story of the Chesapeake Bay impact crater in the 1990s. It's the largest known bolide strike in the U.S. and among the largest in the world.

But new research is the first to document the far-reaching impacts of the collision. Scientists say they uncovered a site 240 miles away in the Sandhills of North Carolina showing traces of a massive tsunami caused by the Virginia asteroid.

And the discovery all started by chance.

A mystery buried underground

Almost a decade ago, retired consulting geologist Bob Ganis was investigating some fossils in Moore County, N.C. when he got a call from a local property owner nearby.

A pipeline was set to be constructed through the edge of her property called Paint Hill Farm, and she wondered if Ganis might like to come investigate the temporary trench as part of his research.

Ganis accepted the offer and it became "one of the most strange days of my life," he said.

He took a look at the rock layers exposed about 10 feet deep and was "totally baffled." What he saw didn't align with his geological understanding of the region.

"I had no idea what it was, and no reports of this kind of geology were available to understand what it was," he said.

Thus began a yearslong quest to get to the bottom of the mystery trapped in sediment. The first piece of the puzzle was determining the age of the rock layers in question.

Ganis said he found fossilized shark teeth nearby and worked with peers who helped date them to the late Eocene era, which lasted from about 56 to 34 million years ago.

Next Ganis connected with Ralph Willoughby with the South Carolina Geological Survey, and described the mysterious sediment layers. They methodically went through the rock beds to try and explain each within the geological context of the region.

"When we get to the top, this explanation of all this rubble at the top, we're still scratching our heads," Ganis said. "'What is this stuff?'"

One day, looking at photos from the trench site, "a light bulb goes off," he said. "It struck us (that) this is a tsunami deposit."

There was no geological history to explain why such a deposit would be there, except for one: the meteoroid strike up in Virginia on that fateful day 35 million years ago.

Solving the mystery

The asteroid, moving at about 44,000 miles per hour, was about 2 to 3 miles wide and blasted an enormous crater into the continental shelf of modern day Virginia, according to the U.S. Geological Survey.

Much of the crater is still underwater in the bay, which is why it took until recent decades for scientists to discover. The circular outline of the impact in Hampton Roads includes the bottom half of the Eastern Shore, northern edge of Norfolk and eastern outskirts of the Peninsula and Middle Peninsula.

Like any object that lands in water, the asteroid caused a big splash – a giant tsunami likely thousands of feet high, "the kind of tsunami that the world rarely sees," Ganis said.

It likely washed over the Blue Ridge Mountains and swept across the Southeast – maybe even over the Atlantic Ocean to lap at the shores of Africa and Europe, he said.

Scientists described such a wide-reaching tsunami when they first investigated the Chesapeake Bay impact crater but no one had found actual remains of it.

Ganis' team homed in on the tsunami as a likely explanation for the Paint Hill rock formation, but needed more evidence to prove it.

The bottom layer featured charcoal, natural glass and other rock fragments; materials you would expect to fly out of the impact, Ganis said. It also had the hallmarks of a "tremendously hot blast." Another layer contained ash from the explosion.

Whittecar, the ODU geologist, came in to help figure out the top layer, a sandy conglomeration including petrified wood and what looked like a substance called plinthite. The team needed an expert to confirm.

"I went down (to) look at this stuff and basically said, 'Yep, that's plinthite,'" Whittecar said.

The material is an iron-rich, clumpy reddish clay common in tropical regions. Researchers believe the Virginia tsunami swept up this material from the seabed and ended up at Paint Hill.

The presence of iridium in the sediment helped nail down the team's tsunami theory. It is an extremely rare metal on Earth but common in asteroids.

The researchers published their collaborative findings in the peer-reviewed journal Southeastern Geology last month.

Paint Hill's owner recently sold the 300-acre property to the nonprofit Nature Conservancy, which plans to turn it over to the state park system to expand the Weymouth Woods Sandhills Nature Preserve.

The tsunami deposits will be preserved and may become a "highlight of the park" through related exhibits and educational activities, Ganis said.

Whittecar said geologists are interested in this type of work largely out of curiosity and advancing knowledge for future generations.

"From the practical hazard prevention side of things," he said, "of course it does give a little weight to the notion that if we can stop one of these (asteroids) from hitting, it is worth getting out there and nudging that thing out of the way."

Local students represent REC during 2025 Youth Tour

Fredericksburg, Va. — Four local high school students had the opportunity of a lifetime this June as they represented Rappahannock Electric Cooperative (REC) during the 2025 Electric Cooperative Youth Tour in Washington, D.C.

Nigel Foster of Winchester, Juliana Hernandez of Orange County, Seren McCoy of Hanover County and Noble Richter of Fauquier County joined more than 1,600 students from across the nation for a fast-paced and inspiring week focused on leadership and civic engagement through the lens of the electric cooperative model. Although all four students had visited Washington, D.C. before, Youth Tour offered a meaningful chance to experience the Nation's Capital through a new perspective.

"I love D.C.," Hernandez said. "I applied to Youth Tour because I thought it would be a great opportunity to explore D.C. in a different way and make new connections."

Richter echoed her thoughts: "Even though I've been to D.C., I thought this would be a great opportunity to get an inside look of D.C. and meet students from across the country."

The experience began June 16, when students arrived at the Gaylord Resort and Convention Center, quickly diving into leadership training and orientation with their peers from across Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware. The schedule included visits to national landmarks, educational institutions, and points of historical significance. Highlights included standing on the steps of the Capitol, meeting with Congressional staff, a cruise along the Potomac River, and a game at Nationals Park. Along the way, they gained insight into the unique role electric cooperatives play in powering communities and shaping local economies.

Foster, who hopes to work in government one day, said his favorite part was going to the Capitol.

Each day was packed with opportunities—from engaging with elected officials and visiting national memorials, to learning about the cooperative difference and connecting with like-minded students from diverse backgrounds. The group's final day even included a behind-the-scenes tour of operations at the Northern Virginia Electric Cooperative campus in Gainesville.

"REC is proud to support these future leaders and invest in opportunities that empower students through education, connection, and service," said Casey Hollins, managing director – communications and public relations. "The Youth Tour tradition continues to be a powerful reminder of the role electric cooperatives play,not just in delivering electricity, but in lighting the way for the next generation."

Open to rising high school seniors in REC's service area, applications for the 2026 Youth Tour will open later this year. Information about Youth Tour can be found at myrec.coop/youthtour.

REC provides electric service to 182,000 connections in parts of 22 Virginia counties. With its general office in Fredericksburg, Va., the Cooperative operates and maintains more than 18,000 miles of power lines through its service area, which ranges from the Blue Ridge Mountains to the tidal waters of the Chesapeake Bay. For more information about REC, please visit www.myrec.coop. Follow REC on Facebook, X, Instagram, LinkedIn and YouTube.

ENGLE'S ANGLE: "A Toaster? Bath Towels?"

by Kevin S. Engle

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Engle,
Please join us in Venice, for our June wedding celebration. Additional details enclosed.
Love,
Lauren and Jeff

I was excited as if it was a package delivery. I knew the invitation would be here any day. But it never came. As much stuff as we've ordered from Amazon over the years, I thought for sure Jeff Bezos and I were tight. Obviously not.

To be honest, I didn't even know the guy was getting married until recently.

And that got me thinking.

If we had been invited, what do you give to the richest man on the planet and his new bride?

A toaster? Bath towels?

How about cash? That's always simple.

Yeah, like he really needs more of that.

Maybe they had a wedding registry? On Amazon?

That'd be funny.

They did.

Sort of.

There's one for Jeff Bezos Bezos and Lauren Sanchez.

Hmm.

Jeff Bezos Bezos?

I don't think so.

And the wedding date is shown as July 24. They were married in June.

I think somebody's trying to pull a fast one.

The only item listed is a $1000 Gift Card Fund.

The first time I looked, only five bucks had been contributed. It's up to $35 now.

I suppose my wife could have crocheted winter hats for the newlyweds. It would keep his bald head warm when they go skiing in Vail or the Alps.

We could get them a really nice toaster. A four-slice digital one with memory settings. They could just push a button and each get their bagel toasted just the way they like them. At our house, my wife doesn't like them as brown as I do.

I checked wedding registries on Walmart and Target as well.

On Walmart.com, you have to search by name and state. I tried a bunch of states.

California? No.

Connecticut? A lot of rich people live there. Nope.

Delaware. Companies often establish their headquarters in Delaware for tax reasons. That's where Amazon is incorporated. No luck.

Hawaii? It's expensive living in the Aloha state but I think Jeff can get by. Nada.

New Mexico? Wikipedia says he lives there. No.

Wyoming? Lots of celebrities have ranches in Wyoming. Maybe he could use a new toaster on the ranch? Nope.

They weren't listed with Target either.

Dang!

If I could sing, which I can't, I could've performed a few of their favorites at the reception.

If I could paint, and I can't do that either, I could've painted their portraits. Or even just a room in one of their houses.

I could cut their grass or clean the pool. Maybe wash windows. I'm a good window washer.

Even though that invite never came, I got them a toaster anyway. I'll send it to the corporate headquarters and hope he gets it.

I hope they like it.

If not, it can be returned.

I bought it on Amazon.

The author got one for the Engle household too. He also picked up a set of monogrammed towels.

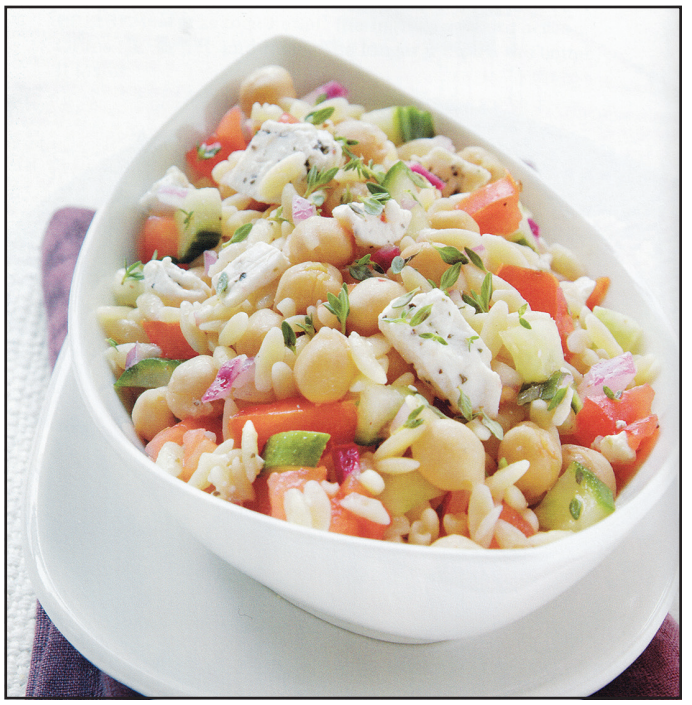
Tangy cheese gives this salad a kick



Summer party season requires having plenty of refreshing, and easy-to-prepare offerings for family, friends and other guests. Salads come in all shapes and sizes, and can feature a versatile mix of ingredients to help customize their flavor. They're also refreshing and easy to prepare and serve on hot days or nights.

"Chickpea, Feta and Orzo Salad" puts a Mediterranean-style twist on the summer salad. Feta cheese gives it richness and tang, while chickpeas pack a protein- and fiber-laden punch. Enjoy this recipe, courtesy of "Cooking Light® Fresh Food Superfast" (Oxmoor House) by the Cooking Light® kitchens.

Chickpea, Feta and Orzo Salad
Serves 4

1 cup uncooked orzo
Cucumber-Thyme Relish (see below)
1 cup refrigerated pre-chopped tomatoes
1 16-ounce can chickpeas, rinsed and drained
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup (1.3 ounces) crumbled feta cheese with basil and sun-dried tomatoes

1. Cook pasta according to package directions; drain and rinse under cold water. Drain well. While pasta cooks, prepare Cucumber-Thyme Relish.
2. Combine tomato and chickpeas in a large bowl, tossing gently; stir in pasta, salt, and Cucumber-Thyme Relish. Add feta cheese; toss gently.

Cucumber-Thyme Relish
Yields 2/3 cup

1 1/2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
1/2 cup chopped English cucumber
2 tablespoons finely chopped red onion
1 tablespoon fresh thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Combine lemon juice and olive oil in a medium bowl, stirring with a whisk. Stir in cucumber and remaining ingredients.

Ask Stewart

Hey Stewart,

I have tried planting trees in the same spot in my yard and they keep dying. What's going on?

– Doug

If a tree keeps dying in the same spot, it's likely due to root problems or soil issues. Possible causes include root rot, girdling roots, inadequate drainage, nutrient depletion, or soil pathogens. Addressing these issues requires careful diagnosis and potentially professional help.

Root Problems:

• Root Rot: Fungi in the soil can attack and rot tree roots, preventing them from absorbing water and nutrients.

• Girdling Roots: Roots wrapped tightly around the trunk can choke off the flow of water and nutrients, leading to dieback on one side of the tree.

• Root Damage: Rodents or insects can damage roots, making it difficult for the tree to thrive.

Soil Issues:

• Inadequate Drainage: Poorly drained soil can lead to waterlogging, which suffocates roots and promotes Hamrick's Sudoku!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle! (Answer in back.)

rot.

• Nutrient Depletion: Planting the same type of tree repeatedly in the same spot can deplete specific nutrients the tree needs.

• Soil Compaction: Compacted soil restricts root growth and oxygen supply.

• Soil Pathogens: Diseases or fungi in the soil can persist and affect new trees planted in the same location.

Other Considerations:

• Watering Issues: Too much or too little water can stress or kill trees.

• Sunlight: Trees need the right amount of sunlight to thrive.

• Wildlife: Animals like deer, rabbits, or rodents can damage trees.

Still unsure what to do? Then consult with an arborist or tree care professional to identify the specific problem.

Local Students Among REC Scholarship Winners

Rappahannock Electric Cooperative (REC) has awarded a total of $20,000 in scholarships to 17 students through its annual Community Scholarship program—including several outstanding students from our area.

The Community Scholarship program is part of REC's continued commitment to supporting education and strengthening the communities it serves. Scholarships are awarded to high school seniors and current college or technical school students who demonstrate academic achievement, community involvement, and a clear vision for their future.

"This scholarship program is one way REC helps open doors for the next generation," said Casey Hollins, Managing Director – Communications and Public Relations. "By supporting students on their journey toward higher education or workforce training, we're investing in the future of our communities and in the young leaders who will help shape it."

Local recipients of a $1,000 scholarship include:

Sarah Carter, Frederick County – Millbrook High School

Kaden Evans, Clarke County – Clarke County High School

Damian Schafer, Warren County – Laurel Ridge Community College

To view the full list of the 2025 recipients, visit myrec.coop/scholarships.

Applications for the 2026 REC Community Scholarship will open Sept. 1, 2025. Eligible applicants must plan to attend an accredited college, university or technical/trade school and have a parent or guardian who is a member of REC.

To learn more and apply, visit myrec.coop/scholarships.

REC provides electric service to 182,000 connections in parts of 22 Virginia counties. With its general office in Fredericksburg, Va., the Cooperative operates and maintains more than 18,000 miles of power lines through its service area, which ranges from the Blue Ridge Mountains to the tidal waters of the Chesapeake Bay. For more information about REC, please visit www.myrec.coop. Follow REC on Facebook, X, Instagram, LinkedIn and YouTube.

Interstate 81 - Slow Rolls and Exit Ramp Closures July 13 in Frederick County

Contractors are scheduled to install a new utility line crossing over Interstate 81 at mile marker 313.8 near Winchester. The work will require slow-roll closures (rolling roadblocks) managed by the Virginia State Police on northbound and southbound I-81 beginning at 5 a.m. Sunday (July 13) morning. They are expected to last approximately one hour.

A slow roll is a traffic management operation where a traffic gap is created by reducing approaching traffic speeds to as low as 10 mph. This gap allows work to safely take place free of live traffic. Traffic can also be temporarily stopped and held by a lead vehicle in each lane. A slow roll operation typically lasts no more than 15 minutes at a time.

The slow rolls will alternate between northbound and southbound traffic as follows:

Northbound I-81 slow rolls will begin at the Stephens City exit, mile marker 307.3 and will require temporary closures of the on-ramps from exits 307, 310 and 313.

Southbound I-81 slow rolls will begin at the Virginia Welcome Center near Clear Brook, mile marker 319.9 and will require temporary closures of the on-ramps from exits 317, 315 and 313.

Digital message signs will advise drivers of the slow rolls and ramp closures. All work is weather permitting.

For updated traffic alerts and traveler information, dial 511 or visit https://511.vdot.virginia.gov/

The VDOT Customer Service Center can assist with reporting road hazards, asking transportation questions, or getting information related to Virginia's roads. Call 800-FOR- ROAD (800-367-7623) or use its mobile friendly website at https://my.vdot.virginia.gov. Agents are available 24 hours-a-day, seven days a week.

Warren Coalition to Offer Free Trauma-Informed Certification

FRONT ROYAL, VA— Warren Coalition will offer a free Trauma-Informed Certification Class (Course 1) on August 14, 2025, from 9 am to 3:30 pm at Warren County Community Center.

We all interact with others on a daily basis, and we may be left wondering why we snapped, or why the other person acted so rudely. Sometimes we feel lonely, insecure, or as if we aren't good enough, but we don't know from where those feelings originate.

Trauma-Informed Training provides you with a different perspective, allowing you to approach yourself and others from a place of understanding. The class will help you understand the biological science of trauma, the lifelong impacts trauma can have on your mental and physical health, and how to approach others whose trauma history is unknown.

Attendees must be present for the full session to receive a Trauma-Informed Certification. (There will be an on-your-own lunch break of approximately 30 minutes.) This course is offered free of charge to community members and is limited to 20 people. It will be taught in person by Christa Shifflett, Executive Director of the Warren Coalition and will not be recorded.

To complete the required pre-registration, visit bit.ly/ti-aug14 (note the link is case-sensitive). For more information about Trauma-Informed Training and whether it can help you in your personal and/or professional life, email Christa Shifflett at christa@warrencoalition.org.

This training is presented by Warren Coalition, a nonprofit agency established in 1994 to help fill the gaps in health care and substance misuse awareness to the community. The Coalition began under the guidance of Warren Memorial Hospital as an outreach project, but it has since grown and was incorporated in 2001. The office is currently located in the Warren County Community Center. Their mission is to make Warren County a safe, healthy, and drug free community through many programs and in collaboration with 15+ member agencies.

Eleven Dead In Nine Fatal Crashes Over July 4th Holiday

RICHMOND – Preliminary data shows that 11 people lost their lives in nine traffic crashes during the four-day Fourth of July holiday statistical counting period (July 3-July 6). There were two double fatal crashes: one involving an all-terrain vehicle in Orange County on July 4th, and a wrong-way head-on collision in the Express Lanes of Interstate 495 on July 6th. There was also a pedestrian fatal crash in Buckingham County on July 4th.

The fatal crashes took place in Amelia, Buckingham, Clarke, Fairfax, Henrico, King William, Orange, Prince Edward, and Spotsylvania Counties. Last year, during the five-day statistical counting period, there were ten traffic fatalities.*

"Even one fatality is one too many, but 11 deaths are extremely alarming," said Colonel Matthew D. Hanley, Superintendent of Virginia State Police. "Sadly, these tragedies are preventable. We urge everyone to avoid distractions, slow down, buckle up, and drive sober. Our main concern is your safety."

During the 2025 Operation CARE initiative for the Fourth of July holiday, troopers cited nearly 3,000 drivers (2,959) for speeding and 1,411 drivers for reckless driving. Troopers arrested 73 drivers for driving under the influence of alcohol/drugs. They also issued 505 citations for failure to wear a seatbelt. Virginia law changed July 1st to require all passengers, no matter where they are seated in a vehicle, to wear a seatbelt. There were also 135 citations for child restraint violations.

Operation CARE (Crash Awareness Reduction Effort) is a state-sponsored, national program intended to reduce crashes, fatalities and injuries due to impaired driving, speeding and failing to wear a seat belt.

State Police investigated 879 total traffic crashes statewide and assisted 701 motorists during the Fourth of July counting period.

Funds generated from summonses issued by Virginia State Police go directly to court fees and the state's Literary Fund, which benefits public school construction, technology funding and teacher retirement.
